COUNTY GIVEN QUOTA OF FIVE FOR CAMP PENN

Adams county has been assigned a quota of five youths who will be guests of the commonwealth at the two-week Camp Penn this summer. The quota is half that for last year when 2,500 state boys were quartered at the camp. This year plans are being made for 1,200.

An announcement today from Harrisburg said that county medical directors will choose the campers this year. The change was made known over the week-end by Frank A. Weber, state adjutant general, for the annual free camp at Indian-town Gap Military Reservation August 15 to 29. Teachers and school superintendents choose the campers last year.

Change Age Limits

Weber also said the age limit will be dropped from 14 to 16 years old to 12 to 14 years. Last year 2,500 boys were entertained in the first year of a $600,000 program, financed by state appropriations.

"The committee decided that the lesser number is better suited for camp administration and close individual attention and that the reduced age limit, which is in the boy's earlier formative stage, is more adaptable for character development and leadership training," said the camp committee.

A proposed separate camp for girls was dropped because of increased commitments for military troop training at the military reservation. Counselors will be assigned at the ratio of one for every 10 boys instead of the lesser ratio last year of one for every 16.

Favors Sunday School

Rev. Mr. Meadows, speaking at the afternoon session and introduced by Richard C. Lighter, described Sunday school as a laymen's movement and commented on its beginning in England in 1780 and its history.

"I believe in Sunday school," he said, "not only because of its history and tradition but it is the best agency of the church for teaching Ministers preach but in teaching there is give and take. Such teaching is necessary. I believe in the church because it is an agency by which many lay men and lay women can be put to work consistently week after week, challenged by the chance to do something constructive. I believe in the Sunday school because it moves over the boundary line, forgetting denominations and affiliations and allowing many to work together to make a worthy contribution. It is an agency through which we can get great things done for God."

Afternoon Session

Howard Smith presided at the afternoon session which was opened by a song service led by A. W. Roth. An address of welcome was given by Earl McGlaughlin and devotions were in charge of Rev. Harry S. Life Insurance Company: By an advertisement in our paper, it will be observed that an Agency of the Harrisburg Life Insurance Company has been established in this place, and Mr. Keller Kurtz appointed the Agent, and Dr. C. Horner Medical Examiner. The subject of Life Insurance has been for some time attracting considerable attention, and the Mutual system is rising in favor. The Harrisburg Company is upon this principle; and from the standing and character of those in the management of it, we think it worthy of public confidence.

The U. S. Senate will adjourn from Thursday until Monday, to have their Chamber renovated and put in summer attire.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Mr. Charles Crosta has purchased the Dr. Story homestead in this place, at $3,000.

J. Ross Hunter has placed by the way side, on his farm in Freedom township, a watering trough for the benefit of the public at large.

Messrs. N. Codori & Son are having put up a Portable Steam Engine at their large and extensive butchery in this place.

Mr. Perry J. Tawney, who has completed the masonry of Prof. Breidenbaugh's house, laid 185,000 brick in 20 days, with an average of six brick-layers.

Resignation—We understand that Maj. H. S. Benner has resigned the Cashiership of the First National Bank of Gettysburg.

The Democracy in Council: On Monday there was a grand gathering in this place of Democratic politicians—the occasion being the meeting of the County Convention. The rival clans began to gather at an early hour, and "headquarters" at the Globe Inn overflowed inside and outside, blocking up the pavements and it was curious to observe the active "buttonholing," and occasional demonstrative movements which betokened more than friendly solicitation.

The convention in the court-room was organized by selecting Dr. A. B. Dill, President; W. Ross White and Wm. Dutts, Vice Presidents; F. N. W. Bowers and Thomas C. McCreary, Secretaries. Hon. Isaac Herter was appointed Chairman of the County Committee.

At one o'clock the balloting for Sheriff began. On the eleventh ballot Joseph Spangler emerged victorious over A. J. Bowers.

As soon as the result was announced, there was a regular stampede from the court-room—some to liquor and rejoice over the triumph—a still larger number to give vent to curses loud and deep over alleged betrayals.

The balance of the proceedings were comparatively uninteresting, with results that follow:

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

A NINETY-MINUTE TALK

I was interested, as I hope all lovers of freedom were in the press report that U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie had flown several thousand miles to have a talk with Prime Minister Stalin but that the latter could spare only ninety minutes to talk over world peace! And this Stalin the one who professes that his country is the only one that desires peace above all else!

Does anyone think that, should Stalin come to America, all he would be given would be a brief ninety-minute audience? It would take that time just to introduce him around in Washington to a few Senators and Generals. And we would like to show him a few of the historic high spots that mutely celebrate the miraculous triumph of freedom on this side of the water. Then we would want him to see the Statue of Liberty, and the bell in Philadelphia that was cracked ringing out the news of independence, and we would like to have him know that we have tubes under the Hudson, and under the surface of great New York City; and a nice sight atop the Empire State Building would not be amiss, either.

These things would open the eyes of stalwart Stalin, I am sure, and I am sure he would be welcomed to Lake Success for a visit. Then, if he would only consent, we would like to fly him across the great farming country of the Middle West, with a stop-over at Chicago, if only to see the stock yards, on a little jaunt to the Golden Gate. We would gladly give him ninety days in our midst, if he could only spare the time—and why not? We could probably arrange an afternoon of baseball for him, as well. That would convince him that we are not so worried over here as he may think! And he would see a happy, prosperous nation in action, with hands out to help all the world back to a happy peace.

The people of no nation on this globe want war. What they want is peace to engage in useful pursuits, and live happily. I am convinced that the Russian people want this above all else. What higher objective than peace and good will toward all the peoples of this earth?

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Wayfinders."

"HEARTBEAT" ASKS FORGIVENESS

Dear Lord, forgive me, now I pray,
For all those falsehoods, day by day;
Using deception, not too well,
To keep my promise not to tell,
To son and daughter when they asked,
I said: "Am I not over-taxed
With all the calls that come to me?
How could I Mr. Heartbeat be?"
"I am convinced," a good friend wrote
(And I am quoting from his note),
"You're Mr. Heartbeat. If I'm right,
A drink for you I'll buy on sight.
And, if I'm wrong, as I may be,
Then you may have a drink on me."
"If you are right," was my reply,
"A drink for you I'll gladly buy."

Lord, in Thy good grace me restore,
Now I can be myself once more!
Forgive me for the things I did
To keep my role of Heartbeat hid;
The poker face, the way I'd scoff
To brush the probing question off.
'Twas all for a good purpose done,
And Heartbeat had a lot of fun.

Accident: On Wednesday the 16th inst., as Dr. H. L. Diehl and Mr. David Rahter were returning from Gettysburg to Littlestown they met with quite a serious accident. It appears that while they were descending the grade between Gettysburg and the bridge one shaft became detached, leaving it fall upon the animal's heels, when the animal became unmanageable and dashed off at great speed, throwing both gentlemen to the ground. In endeavoring to stop the horse, Dr. Diehl received several cuts and bruises, but escaped serious injury. Mr. Rahter escaped without the least scratch, save a torn coat. Messrs. Diehl and

RED POLICIES HANDED DEFEAT IN RUHR VOTE

Duesseldorf, Germany, June 19 (AP)—The miners and steel workers of the Ruhr valley rejected Russia's policies in Germany and gave communism a crushing defeat at the polls yesterday.

But while they rejected communism, the same workers voted for a state constitution calling for socialization of the Ruhr's basic industries.

The Ruhr workers elected a legislature for their home state of North-Westphalia, in the British occupation zone. It is the most populous state of West Germany, with 9,000,000 registered voters.

The smoky Ruhr powerhouse once was west Germany's Communist stronghold. Three years ago, the Communists got 14 per cent of the vote. They were the third largest party in the state.

In Fifth Place
Yesterday, they got 5.5 per cent, and went into fifth place. Max Reimann, their leader, trailed badly in Dortmund.

Thousands of workers who had voted Communist before turned their backs on Russia and blasted Communist hopes of winning the Ruhr away from the west.

They apparently spoke for all of west Germany's 46,000,000 people who condemn Russian policies in east Germany.

At the same time, the north Rhine-Westphalian voters also showed they have no love for resurgent German nationalism. The noisy militant candidates—some of them with Hitler-like ideas—got only 1.9 per cent of the ballots. Extremism, both of left and right, was rejected.

Traditional Parties Win
The voters turned instead to their traditional parties—the conservative Christian Democrats and the Socialist (Social Democratic party).

By a quirk of local policies, the conservative voters were responsible for approval of a constitution calling for socialization. They apparently voted for the constitution because it contained a provision calling for denominational schools administered by the churches.

Many Socialists, however, have opposed the constitution because of the school issue.

TWO FISHERMEN DROWN SUNDAY IN SUSQUEHANNA

Lancaster, Pa., June 19 (AP)—Two fishermen drowned Sunday when a boat was swamped in the tailrace of the Holtwood hydroelectric dam across the Susquehanna river about 15 miles south of here.

A third member of the fishing party was rescued while a fourth was able to save himself.

Swift water closed over the one strong swimmer of the party, Walton Zimmerman, 23, of Harrisburg, Pa., as he went to the aid of Joseph Burkepile, 34, of Millerstown R. D. 1, Dauphin county. Both men drowned as Zimmerman's father, George W. Zimmerman, watched helplessly from the shore.

Two Rescued

William Feagley, 23, of Harrisburg, was able to make his way from rock to rock until he finally reached safety on shore.

Russell Campbell, 20, also of Millerstown R. D. 1, clung to the overturned boat to which he had been taken by Zimmerman until rescued. The four companions had put out at an early hour in a small boat powered with an outboard motor, Zimmerman's father reported.

Howard Brubaker, a guard at the dam, warned them to keep away from the middle of the tailrace because of the swift current.

Boat Flits, Sinks

They were riding at anchor, fishing, when of the dam gates was opened. A gate is opened when one of the turbine generators goes into action and the added torrent quickly raises the level of the tailrace, Brubaker explained.

The elder Zimmerman said one of the men started the boat's motor while others tried to haul in the anchor. Before the anchor could be brought in, Zimmerman said, the boat filled with water and capsized, throwing all four men into the tail-race.

The bodies of both drowning victims were recovered sometime after the fatal accident.

CYCLIST KILLED

Camden, N. J., June 19 (AP)—A 23-year-old motorcyclist was thrown from his machine and killed when it went out of control near his home, police reported. James Lerlo died of a skull fracture in Cooper hospital yesterday four and a half hours after the accident. Police said Lerlo was trying to pass an automobile driven by his brother-in-law, Charles I. Lorenson, 26, of Camden, when he was thrown.

Rahter offer their kindest thanks to Mr. Houser and friends for their assistance rendered in gathering up and repairing the dilapidated vehicle.

Religious plays of the 15th Century sometimes took 30 days to perform.

Give Watermelons Room to Grow and Feed Them Well

Watermelons are among the most nutritious fruits, high in calories, and rich in minerals and vitamins. Though they seem to be chiefly delicious juice, actually they have a lower water content than asparagus, celery, cucumbers and lettuce; and of all the vine crops, stand drouth the best.

Watermelons are usually grown in hills, which may be as close together as three feet each way, in small gardens. Such close spacing is likely to reduce the size of the fruits, and more room should be given where possible. Seeds should be sown in warm soil, and if the nights continue cold it may be desirable to protect the young plants at first with waxed paper tents.

Heavy fertilizing pays well with this crop. As much as a pint of balanced plant food may be mixed well with the soil beneath each hill several days before the seed is planted. Or use a shovel of well rotted manure, and half a pint of plant food. Sow ten seeds to the hill and thin out to the two strongest plants that develop.

formation of additional roots.

3. Spray the basal vines and leaves on under sides to destroy eggs and tiny larvae, using nicotine sulphate in soapy water. Spray every few days, beginning when vines begin to run in early July and continuing for about a month.

4. Invite birds to nest and rear their young near the garden because most birds feed on the egg-laying moths and exposed borers before they burrow into winter quarters in the soil.

5. Plow squash soils in late fall or early spring to expose and kill the over-wintering borer.

6. Talk over with neighbors the wisdom of adopting these measures to reduce the general borer population. On this point it is pertinent to remember that flying moths may easily migrate from the garden of the careless grower to squash of gardeners who otherwise follow a strict round-the-year program of combat. This presents another of many opportunities for community-wide cooperation in warfare against a major enemy of our food crops.

ADA Asks For C-Day For Civil Rights Soon

Philadelphia, June 19 (AP)—The Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) want July 12 set aside as "C-day for civil rights."

Senate majority leader Scott Lucas has designated that date for a new effort to bring up the Fair Employment Practices (FEPC) bill.

In a statement issued at the close of a two-day meeting yesterday, the ADA's national board said: "In the FEPC fight every member of the Senate, Democrat and Republican, must be put on record, not only in breaking the filibuster but on passage of the bill itself. This must be a real test of the devotion of both parties to their platform."

The board also recommended that the Senate turn down an amendment to the draft extension bill which allows draftees to serve in segregated units.

Two Counties Show Population Losses

Pottsville, Pa., June 19 (AP)—Schuylkill county lost 27,912 residents and Northumberland 10,022 between 1940 and 1950.

Census Director William V. Rowan announced yesterday the 1950 survey showed Schuylkill county with a population of 200,419 and Northumberland with 116,861.

Rowan's report also showed Shenandoah fell off 3,796 to 15,994; Tanawqua 995 to 11,491 and Palo Alto 194 to 1,740.

Orwigsburg gained 127 for a total of 2,309 and Pine Grove increased six to 2,245.

SQUASH BORERS CAN BE CHECKED

The squash vine borer is one of the most destructive insect enemies of squashes in this region. Potentially it is so troublesome that every vegetable grower should know and practice effective prevention and control measures. Success in this task calls for knowledge of the pest's general habits, its life cycle, and the vulnerable points in its behavior.

The feeding borer is about an inch in length when fully grown, white with a dark brown head. The parent or adult form is a small tan to brownish moth that appears in late June and early July, the female depositing her eggs on the under sides of squash leaves, on leaf stems, and on the basal portion of the vine. In six to 15 days these hatch into tiny grubs which soon burrow directly into the fleshy vine and start feeding or burrowing within the vine outward toward the tip. This is the actual borer. After feeding inside the vine four to six weeks the fully grown borer emerges, burrows about two inches into the soil and spins a cocoon in which it remains dormant over winter. In late May or early June it pupates and transforms into the egg-laying moth again. There is but one generation or brood each year.

Usually the first signs of borer ravages are seen in squash vine tips wilting suddenly. Closer inspection then reveals the hole where the borer entered the vine base, often surrounded by telltale cuttings. At this stage the culprit is not very far from the place of its entry.

Prevention and control measures may be set forth in six simple but important practical measures. These are:

1. Plant a few hills or Hubbard or other vigorous winter squashes near the garden or where the main crop is to grow. These should be started a week to two weeks earlier so they may serve solely as "trap" plants. Borers will infest these instead of the regular and slightly later plants. When the trap plants are fully infested they should be pulled up and burned.

2. Inspect squash plants to discover the borer as soon as it enters the fleshy portion of the vine. Then slit the vine at that point with a safety razor blade and remove the invader. It is advisable to cover the wounded portion with soil to induce

Japanese Beetle Control

With the annual attack of the hungry Japanese beetle due soon, readers are invited to write the editor at once enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope or 3-cent stamp for our revised control instructions. If this enemy's ravages are particularly heavy on a certain crop or ornamental, please mention the fact so the editor may include special advice. LUMBER

TO DECIDE SOON ON RECORD OF AMERASIA CASE

Washington, June 19 (AP)—Attorney General McGrath said today the Justice Department will decide soon whether to make public a full report on the 1945 Amerasia case as recommended by a federal grand jury.

McGrath's comment to a reporter came after a week-end blistering with new developments involving the charges of Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) that the State Department harbors Communists and Communist sympathizers.

A key part of those charges, McCarthy has said, concerns the five-year-old episode in which six persons were arrested after the FBI had found hundreds of secret government documents in the offices of the now-defunct magazine Amerasia.

New Developments
These were the developments:
1. Three more Republicans joined those party members who have criticized McCarthy's methods in attacking the State Department. The three—Governors Earl Warren of California and James H. Duff of Pennsylvania, and Senator Bridges of New Hampshire—also had some criticism of the way Democrats have handled the Communist-in-government issue.

2. An official transcript of testimony taken by the Senate committee investigating McCarthy's charges showed that Amerasia defendant Emmanuel S. Larsen spoke of former Navy Lieut. Andrew Roth as a "real Communist" and "the principal conspirator" in the case.

Both men were among the six persons arrested in the case; Larsen and Amerasia Editor Philip Jaffe were fined; Roth and the other three never were brought to trial. Charge "Distortion"

3. McCarthy demanded that the Senate inquiry group open its doors to the public when it takes testimony Thursday from State Department consular official John S. Service—another of the six accused in the Amerasia episode five years ago. The committee plans to hear Service, as it has other Amerasia witnesses, behind closed doors.

4. The State Department accused McCarthy of "deliberate distortion of the public record" in saying that Dean Acheson—now secretary of state—had helped create a Red Poland by approving a $90,000,000 loan to that country in 1946.

5. Officials disclosed that Cardinal Spellman had sought the meeting he had Friday with Deputy Undersecretary of State John E. Peurifoy—possibly to discuss U. S. representation at the Vatican. Peurifoy denied speculation that he had initiated the meeting so he could ask the cardinal to "call off" McCarthy.

Pennsylvania CAR Conduct Election

Johannstown, Pa., June 19 (AP)—Margaret Ann Fritchey of Harrisburg is new junior state president of the Pennsylvania society of the Children of the American Revolution.

Her father, Dr. John A. Fritchey, is head of the state Sons of the American Legion and her mother is president of the state DAR.

Others elected at a one-day weekend meeting here are: Jane Caufield, Johnstown, vice president; sentation at the Vatican. Peurifoy denied speculation that he had initiated the meeting so he could ask the cardinal to "call off" McCarthy.

Alice Lindsay, Johnstown, state historian; Jane Tranter, York, chaplain; Donna E. Oelschlager of Coraopolis, recording secretary; Lois Maroney, Pittsburgh, organizing secretary; Amelia Craig, Lancaster, corresponding secretary; Mary Ann Myers, Lansdowne, treasurer; Phyllis Myers, Camp Hill, registrar.

Eric, Pa., June 19 (AP)—The population of Erie county gained 20 per cent in the past decade.

New census figures disclosed today that the northwestern corner of Pennsylvania now has 218,407 inhabitants, compared with 180,889 in the 1940 census. The biggest increase was reported in the suburban Erie areas.

Suicide's Widow Offers To Testify

Pittsburgh, June 19 (AP)—The widow of a 36-year-old city employee found shot to death has offered to take his place as a witness in the investigation being made of illegal use of city labor.

Mrs. Robert E. Laun made the offer after her husband was found dead with a bullet in his head in the Laun home Saturday. He was to have testified this week.

City council is conducting the probe into reports some city officials have used employees at their private homes while the laborers were being paid by the city.

City Solicitor Anne X. Alpern also is trying to trace some unaccounted for city-owned building materials. Laun's job was to keep labor and material records for the department of lands and buildings. Coroner William B. McClelland said Laun's death apparently is suicide but that an investigation is continuing.

Washington, June 19 (AP)—The White House has announced that John F. Simmons, now ambassador to Ecuador, will become chief of protocol of the State Department. Simmons, 58-year old native of Orange, N. J., and a diplomatic career man since 1916, will succeed Stanley Woodward, who left the protocol job to become ambassador to Canada. Woodward is leaving for Ottawa today.

From 1900 to 1910, the U. S. population increased more from immigration than from births.

Chapter 32

Morton lunged forward and hugged him like a father.

"L.M.," said William. "How I've needed you!"

"For Pete's sake," said Andrew, "come and have some coffee." He went into the kitchen and began banging about cups and saucers, and when he came back they were in the sitting room. William had loosened his tie and was sitting with the script of the new play in his shaking hands, and Morton was astride the hearth.

"I'd like to have done it at home," Morton was saying, "with my own people. But it depends so much on the two leading roles. Andrew has found me some clever youngsters, and any of them could be good—but I don't have to teach you how to play this, William. This is your part, and you know it."

William said, "Yes," and then he threw the manuscript on the table and lit a cigarette.

"Well," said Morton, "should either of you wish me onto Katherine again?"

"They didn't speak."

"I never brought her anything but unhappiness."

"For heaven's sake," said Andrew, "what does Katherine care about happiness, or your marriage, or any other thing where you're concerned? Morton told her you needed her, and she came, without another thought in her head."

Morton went on to the theater, while Andrew and William went out to have a shave and a shoe-shine. Andrew could feel him hanging back as they went through the stage door. He took the side passage into the auditorium, where Morton was sitting, and a few of the people who were trying for parts. Way back in the shadows to the rear he caught a glimpse of a polished dome, which he knew was Hamlyn. He felt William tremble and stop. Katherine was standing in a white glare of the lights, looking as thin and unspectacular as a schoolgirl in her white shirt and full brown skirt. She was standing, script in hand, talking to Morton across the orchestra pit.

Andrew gave him a little push forward, and he went like a sleep-walker, across the front of the orchestra, up the wooden steps onto the stage. She looked up and saw him, freezing into immobility. Then her hands leaped out with a swift little gesture of longing and welcome. William went slowly across to her and knelt down at her feet. She bent to him with a little swoop, her hands in his dark hair, holding his head against her bosom. "It's all right," she said quickly. "It's all right, my darling. I'm here, darling. Don't cry."

Magda got her divorce the week before the show started, and they were married immediately. The little unpretentious play had a tumultuous success. People went again and again, as though they, too, could draw some kind of comfort from the tenderness and pathos and passion, the flickering, almost unearthly power of the two young leading players. Magda, reading the rave notices in Florida, thought it was typical of William to be so infuriatingly successful just after she had decided he was a failure. She would have been still angrier with her father if he had known how pleased with himself Mr. Hamlyn was. He held the film rights, and every day the letters and telegrams came flipping into the office, telegrams or congratulations on his judgment, telegrams suggesting that he should approach William again, that the trouble in Hollywood had been sheer misunderstanding . . . and perhaps he might reconsider the matter, and would it also be possible to sign up his wife? But Mr. Hamlyn was in no hurry. For the time being, they were better on the stage.

Morton went back to England like a slug from a catapult the minute the first night was over. They went down to the ship to see him off, Andrew, William and Katherine. Andrew thought William and Katherine might abandon New York, and stow away in their eagerness to be with him on a new venture. They left early as they had to dine and be at the theater on time. Morton and Andrew watched them go along the huge, brilliantly lit pier, hand in hand.

A cold wind was coming down the Hudson from the already frozen

Four Counties Show Population Gains

Philadelphia, June 19 (AP)—The population of four eastern Pennsylvania counties has increased in the 10-year period from 1940 to 1950.

Census officials report that the population of York county increased 13.7 per cent during that period, advancing from 178,022 to 202,340.

York officials said this increase is enough to give the county an additional delegate in the state House if such a move is approved by the legislature. The county now has three representatives.

Northampton county advanced nine per cent from 168,959 to 183,728 and Monroe county 13 per cent from 23,802 to 26,944.

Montour county also showed a slight increase, advancing from 15,612 to 15,972 during the 10-year period.

One county—Carbon—lost seven per cent in population, falling from 61,735 to 59,444.

north, and blowing the river into choppy little waves. Morton said, "I expect I'll see you in Broadweir next summer, Andy?" And Andrew, who has not yet even thought of going, said, "Yes, I.M. I expect you will."

For the first time Andrew was conscious of the loneliness and purposelessness that invariably follows the completion of a job. What to do now?

Andrew remembered the first time he had been taken to the theater to see his mother, years ago when he was a child. He recalled the magic of her art, the grand art of the great illusion, and he remembered saying to Morton years ago in his cottage at Broadweir that the theater was his life—but he couldn't act.

He grinned suddenly to himself as he watched them. "So that's why I did it all," he said.

SAY ALLIES MINE GERMAN ROADS

Frankfurt, Germany, June 19 (AP)—The western allies are expected to begin mining key roads and bridges throughout west Germany and other parts of Europe to stall any possible Soviet attack.

These preparations came to light when a German magazine published pictures of a winding highway around famed Lorelei mountain on the Rhine river in the French zone. The pictures showed a row of holes being drilled in the road and then covered with concrete caps. Explosive charges dropped into the holes would tumble the highway into the Rhine at one of its narrowest points.

American headquarters declined to comment. But a French source in the Koblenz area said: "It is not only on this route on which such measures are taken and not only the French who are making such preparations. It is the allied high command which ordered this."

Plans have been in the books for more than a year for allied occupation forces in western Germany to fight a delaying action, if trouble comes.

Marine Corps League Elects Its Officers

Uniontown, Pa., June 19 (AP)—The Assistant Secretary of Defense says the United States "will never fly over Russia and drop a bomb to start a war."

Paul H. Griffith told a week-end convention of the Pennsylvania Department of the Marine Corps league that the only act the U. S. will make in future war "will be a counter attack."

Davis W. Graybill of Lancaster, was elected commander of the Marine Corps league. Other state officers follow: Senior vice commander, Patrick Cody, industry; judge advocate, William W. Hurrell, McKeesport; adjutant, Charles A. Heller, Philadelphia; paymaster, Francis Heidis, Lancaster; chaplain, Robert Williamson, Glassport.

Division vice commanders: southwest, Carl Baum, Lancaster; southeast, Lawrence Ryan, Uniontown; northeast, Robert Bellino, Scranton; Northwest, Laddie Walker, Erie. Greybill reappointed Charles Feininger, Harrisburg, chief of staff.

Rev. Samuel M. Clark served as leader for the Adult Division conference with Rev. Mr. Meadows as speaker.

In the Young People's Division there were two groups under the direction of William Sier, county youth council president, and Rev. Mr. Wolf.

Rev. Mr. Fisher, speaking at the evening session and introduced by the Evening Broom, described what a Christian looks like. "To go forward with Christ," he said, "it is incumbent that we become like Christ. What does a Christian look like? This is not an easy manner to determine. At first glance all persons appear the same. To determine Christian character it is necessary to use patience, prayer and an earnest evaluation."

Describes Christian
He declared "that Christians come from all backgrounds and economic levels and are of all physical types and of both sexes. What is a Christian like? He shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of the water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season. More specifically he is like Paul or like Jesus Christ."

Referring to Christ Rev. Mr. Fisher stated, "From Him we can draw four distinct characteristics of a Christian. First, a Christian seeks to know and do God's will. The Christian learns of God's will through the church, the Book, and through prayer and then through contemplation and prayer. Christian can receive enough understanding in a week to revolutionize our faltering Western civilization."

"Secondly, a Christian is heroic, being rooted in the unconquerable spirit of Christ. A Christian does not complain despite scars and bitter disappointment. A Christian gives more than he or she takes. Thirdly, a Christian is the recipient of powers beyond his own. He moves in the strength of Jesus Christ."

Rev. Mr. Fisher referred to the Bible verse which says, "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me." He declared that this power is "always available to make a person better than his best natural self."

Evening Session
The speaker said, "Fourth, a Christian is radiant, possessing a radiance that emanates wherever it is—a radiance that makes the whole life glow through an indwelling Christ. No man can be a true Christian without the radiance born from an indwelling Christ."

Charles L. Geatzler presided at the evening session which also began with a song service by A. W. Roth. Devotions were conducted by Rev. Henry W. Starnes, pastor of the St. Paul's Lutheran church, Biglerville. The offering was received and the benediction pronounced by Rev. Amos Funk, pastor of the Mt. Carmel Mt. Hope United Brethren parish. The officers were installed by C. C. Culp, advisory member of the county board.

Special music was presented by the Junior high school and the Senior high school choirs of St. James Lutheran church, Gettysburg, under the direction of Prof. Richard B. Shade. Organist for the convention was Mrs. Calvin P. Bream. Mrs. J. Merle Kittinger served as pianist. On the convention committee were Richard C. Lighter, Kenneth Bream, and Charles I. Raffensperger.

DAIRY WORKERS DIE IN CRASH

Chalfont, Pa., June 19 (AP)—Three dairy workers were killed and a fourth injured seriously in the crash of their automobile with a Reading company local passenger train. The accident occurred at a country lane crossing west of here yesterday. One of the victims, Leroy B. Henning, was decapitated.

Other victims were identified as: George Retherford, Jr., 16, of Edison, Pa., thrown 60 feet into a cornfield by the impact, and Kenneth Rufe, 16, of Doylestown, who died in Elm Terrace hospital, Lansdale, Pa., of a compound skull fracture less than six hours after the accident.

The injured man, William L. Miller, 23, of Doylestown, is in Elm Terrace hospital with a broken right shoulder and severe lacerations of the face.

The accident occurred two minutes after the two-car train, carrying 20 passengers, left the Colmar station in Montgomery county.

At a preliminary hearing before John Gruber, superintendent of the Reading's Philadelphia division, two

2 Senators Would Oust Trygve Lie

Washington, June 19 (AP)—Two Republican senators said yesterday Trygve Lie should be ousted as Secretary General of the United Nations unless he withdraws his proposal for recognition of Communist China.

In a joint statement, Senators Bridges of New Hampshire and Knowland of California accused Lie of being a tool, if not an actual ally, of the Reds, and called on the administration to seek his discharge if he doesn't stop urging that a Chinese Communist be seated on the U.N. Security Council.

"Lie says, in effect, if Russia will not accept the rules of the U.N., the rules must be changed," their statement said. "He adopts the same tool, if not their actual ally."

"What Lie proposes is more than craven appeasement. It is surrender, abject capitulation."

crew members and a group of passengers testified that the engine man, Louis Silcott, of Philadelphia, had given two long and two short warning blasts on the train's whistle in approaching the crossing at 35 miles an hour.

SURRENDERS TO W. WINCHELL

New York, June 19 (AP)—Benedetto Macri, 37, charged with last year's knife killing of Union Organizer William Lurye, gave himself up last night to Columnist Walter Winchell.

The two met at a secret rendezvous arranged by a third party, unknown to Winchell. Then the columnist and radio commentator drove Macri to a Manhattan police station where he was booked for homicide.

"I'm sorry to meet you this way. This is not a happy assignment for me," Winchell said he told Macri when they approached each other in the darkness. "I want to thank you," he said Macri replied.

Less than two hours before, Winchell had predicted on his radio program that he would turn Macri over to police as the climax of a year's radio campaign to induce the Lurye killers to surrender. Another man indicted in the slaying, 31-year-old John (Scarface) Giusto, a paroled convict, is still at large.

At the police station, Winchell immediately laid claim in the name of the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund to the $25,000 reward posted by the AFL International Ladies Garment Workers Union, Lurye's organization, after the killing May 9, 1949.

The surrender was an almost exact duplication of Winchell's success of 1939 in persuading Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, one of the heads of the notorious Murder, Inc., to give himself up. Buchalter later was electrocuted at Sing Sing prison.

Lurye, 40, was fatally stabbed in a phone booth in the lobby of a building in Manhattan's garment center. He had been directing a campaign to organize non-union shops, and his death touched off one of the biggest manhunts in New York's history. Nearly 100 police and detectives worked on the case, resulting in the indictments against Macri, a shop partner, and Giusto.

MAYOR ACTS IN DAIRY STRIKE

Pittsburgh, June 19 (AP)—Mayor David L. Lawrence summoned representatives of the striking milk drivers union and the dealers to a meeting today with instructions to "end your shadow boxing and resume delivery of milk."

A three-hour Sunday conference failed to end the 12-day-old strike which has cut off milk supplies in seven counties.

The union—AFL Local 205 Milk and Ice Cream Salesmen and Dairy Employees representing 3,200 strikers—met yesterday afternoon and last night in an executive board session to consider the mayor's appeal and other business.

Union spokesmen indicated that the settlement terms involving 800 drivers and dairy employees in the Washington, D. C., milk strike would not serve as a pattern for peace here.

The Washington plant employees voted to accept a five and a half day week with plants closed on Sunday. The Pittsburgh union has rejected the Greater Pittsburgh Milk dealers' proposal for the same thing.

At the last bargaining session, the dealers again insisted on arbitration of the dispute and indicated they would consider arbitration of the retroactive pay issue. The contract expired May 1. The union argued that they would consider arbitration if the dealers would agree to retroactive pay.

"McCarthyism" Splits Governors In GOP

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., June 19 (AP)—Top flight Republican governors appeared divided today over the effect on their party's political fortunes of what some of them called "McCarthyism."

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York told reporters he has a "mixed" reaction to roadside charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) that the State Department is harboring Communists. He didn't elaborate publicly.

Gov. Earl Warren of California, running for
